Man Who Had Indulged to His Wife's Advice Made Her Victim

When I am going to be married, I always like the encouragement of my wife, and I usually get it. When A. Edward Newton in the Atlantic Monthly, I determined to get on with her a proposed marriage. Her prophetic instinct in this instance was against it. She reminded me that the business outlook was not good when we left home and that the people received those who were anything but encouraging.

"That amount of money," she said, "may be useful when you get home." The advice was good, indeed, her arguments were so unanswerable that I determined not to discuss it further, but to buy anyhow and say nothing. Early the next morning I went back and to my great disappointment found that someone there foretold that I had taken the treasure. My regret for a time was keen, but upon my return to this country I found myself in the height of the 1907 panic. Speculation seemed almost worthless and actual money unobtainable. Then I congratulated my wife on her wisdom and pointed out what a fine fellow I had been to follow her advice.

Made Point for Defense.

Of Sir Thomas Moreton, who was given with quick perception, this story is told: "A poor woman had been instructed with the care of a large sum of money by three farmers, who told her to keep it safely until they appeared together to claim it. Shortly afterward one of them went to her and, representing that he came at the direction of the other two, he received the money and forthwith disappeared. The other two brought action to recover the whole deposit. Moreton happened to be in court during the trial, in which an intimate friend defended the woman. Seeing that the case was going against her friend, Moreton volunteered to speak as amicus curiae. Permission was granted. Emphasizing the condition of which the money was lost in the woman's care, Moreton said: "It is clear that the plaintiff must recover, because it is to the three farmers together that the defendant agreed to deliver the money. Where is the third? Let him be produced." Then Moreton saved the day for his friend.

We are setting type this week to the monotonous chug of a well drill operating "neath our windows. N. A. Maxwell is having the well bored at the rear of his store. He is also having the rooms over the store prepared for his use as living rooms.

We note from the court house records that another "hog ranch" company is operating in this county—the Oink Hog Ranch Co. It seems to be selling hogs, rather than raising them, and selling them in the same way as the old-fashioned hogs and pigs of the country.

Little Naomi Swift gave a party last Friday afternoon in celebration of her sixth birthday, which was attended by quite a number of her little friends, and all had a most enjoyable time. Ice cream, cake, and cooling drinks were served.

He says he did the janitor work and that he is therefore entitled to a janitor's pay. He thinks five dollars per month is about right.

Among the marriage licenses issued in St. Louis last Monday was one to Frank D. Monroe of that city and Chloe G. Nicholson of Potosi. The bride is a daughter of Mr. John J. Nicholson, of this locality, and is a charming and beautiful girl. Her many friends here wish her the greatest happiness in her new life.

Is said that a saturated solution of hypophosphite of soda applied to chigger bites will cure them at once; also that when the limbs have been sponged with this solution chiggers will not molest one. It is worth trying. Hypophosphite of soda is a cheap chemical and is the stuff photographers use in fixing the image on their photo plates. It is perfectly harmless.

Wassa Matter?

Rev. Winfield Slater, the Baptist colored minister filled his appointment at Potosi last Sunday. He has been preaching for the colored Baptists of that place for some time, but he is expecting to abandon his trips to that place in the future.—Ironton Enterprise.

E. J. Boyer writes us to change the address of his paper from Fertile to Cannon Mines, which is a new post office established in Union township and opened for business on July 15th. Mr. Boyer is the postmaster and the office is located in his store. No doubt this new postoffice will prove a great convenience to the people of that community.

The lecture will be free and will be illustrated with stereopticon views and enlarged photographs. All who are interested in poultry and egg production should not fail to attend this lecture.

There By Auto; Home By Train.

Several auto parties left Potosi Sunday morning to spend the day at the Methodist Assembly, now in session at Arcadia. They made the trip to Arcadia without difficulty, but along in the afternoon messages began to come in here to send conveyances to Mineral Point to get the excursionists as they were coming up from Arcadia by train. The heavy rain storm Sunday afternoon took the joy out of the party's prospects of getting back home in the autos, though we understand one or two of the machines made the return trip during the night.

Wedded at 5 A. M.

Last Monday morning at five o'clock Rev. Chas. W. Anderson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was roused from his beauty sleep by some one rapping at his door. Answering the summons, he found a couple who requested an immediate entwinement in the hymenal knot. They were John Moore and Mrs. Mary J. Greenlee, of Fourche a Benaunt. Mr. Anderson rubbed the sleep from his eyes sufficiently to see the words of the marriage service and did the job up with neatness and dispatch. The couple gave as their reason for seeking him at such an unusual hour, that they wanted to get back to the work on the farm.

A Hay-Ride.

On last Friday evening a party of young people of Potosi "pulled off" a hay ride to Mineral Point. The crowd was agreeably entertained with vocal selections and speeches by Messrs. Casey and Richards. The climax of the evening was reached when at the spring-house of L. D. Bone the young ladies produced a spread which, was consumed with entire satisfaction by all.

Those participating were Misses Catherine Connolly and guests, Miss Lucille Schaefer of Festus, and Miss Jane Bettis of St. Louis; Lonnie Blount, Ava Simpson, Flo Blount, Anna Simpson, Bridget Casey and Agnes Payne; Steve Richards, Harvey Casey, Henry Flynn, Paul Casey, Wallace Evans, Leo Flynn, Lawrence Campbell, Elsie Hornsby and Mr. Hogaboom.

Store Robbery at Caledonia.

On Tuesday night of last week the store conducted by Miss Stella Carr, at Caledonia was broken into and about $15 worth of goods stolen. Miss Carr ordered the blood hounds up from Poplar Bluff to trail the robber. The dogs arrived at Caledonia Wednesday evening, and on being given a scent of the premises, took up the trail which led them to the home of a man named Joe Snelson, who lives a mile and a half from Caledonia, and who is employed by Dr. Eversole. To make sure that the dogs had trailed true, they were taken back to the store for a second trial, with the result that they followed the exact route again and followed the trail even into the Snelson home. Although Snelson strongly denied having committed the burglary, he was nevertheless arrested and then released under bond of $150 to await trial at the August term of circuit court. None of the stolen property was found in Snelson's house. The store had been entered through a window broken by a robber and it was through the window that the dogs took up the trail.

Small Wonder.

After all what's the use of getting married when those already married get divorced, of learning to play the piano when canned music is so cheap, of taking vocal lessons when one can hear the world famous artists on the victrola, of walking in these days of jineys, of practicing the culinary art when we have the fireless cookers. Small wonder the younger generation is too indolent to be accomplished.—The Censor.

Women Mix It Over Man.

As the story is there was an interest jogtime at the picnic at Crocker Town in the west end of Iron County, July 3rd. It seems that the wife of one of the picnicers became possessed with the idea that another woman was paying too much attention to her liege lord, or the liege lord was devoting too much time to the other woman, one or the other. There was a great deal of talking and some fighting, and the peace and harmony of the picnic and the community was somewhat disturbed. Application has been made for warrants, but none issued were told, up to date. It seems that the aggressors want to prosecute and the minions of the law are at a loss to understand just how that can be done.—Ironton Register.

Rainy Weather Due to Sun Spots.

Prof. Thomas Jefferson Jackson See, government astronomer, located at Mare Island, Calif., and who, by the way, is a well-known Missourian, claims to have made discoveries in the laws of gravitation, said to be the greatest elucidation along that line since the famous discovery in gravity by Newton 250 years ago.

Prof. See's theory or discovery deals largely on the causes of gravitation. By it he explains many of the great scientific mysteries of the ages. Electric waves and their effects are largely included in the theory. Sun spots and certain electrical forces (they put in operation are said by Prof. See to be the cause of the heavy rainfall this year. These spots, he says, appear for a season about every eleven years.

A Skeptic Cured.

Once there was a skeptic. A skeptic is one who declares he knows nothing about anything, and becomes angry when you agree with him. This skeptic did not believe there were any natural blonds. He was so doubtful about everything that he would even put mud on the backs of
